“Strategy Guide” Released for Responsible Use of AI in Higher Ed + a New AI Training Course for Teachers

MIT SMR Connections released a report that it classified as a “strategy guide” for the responsible use of AI in higher education. With the increasing development and use of AI, the report suggests that guidelines and policies be established and explains that these guidelines and policies can be flexible and on a broad spectrum. Read the article, which has a link to MIT’s report, for more information.

Relatedly, F3 Law partner Gretchen Shipley has partnered with CUE & AI Educators to develop a groundbreaking certification course specifically for educators, “Navigating Legal and Ethical Boundaries in the AI Classroom.” To learn more and enroll in the course, click here.

“The world has changed,” the report said. “Trying to ban generative AI altogether, educators interviewed for this report agreed, is simply unrealistic.”
