What can I solve for you?

I offer astute legal counsel and dedication to navigate intricate legal landscapes. My commitment lies in devising pragmatic strategies and achieving favorable litigation resolutions for my clients.

What's it like to work with me?

You can expect a diligent and well-prepared attorney when working with me. I prioritize clear communication and a thorough understanding of your situation to develop a strategic and effective approach to your legal needs. Clients often find that I am approachable and focused, taking the time to listen carefully and explain complex legal matters in a clear and understandable manner.

Overview

Ben Rasmusen is a dedicated associate attorney specializing in litigation. Ben has effectively managed a broad spectrum of cases from inception to resolution. His strong foundation in legal research and case management empowers him to deliver strategic and impactful representation for his clients.

Ben also made a valuable contribution to the academic community as an Adjunct Professor at USF School of Law in 2018, serving as a supportive Moot Court Alumni Coach.

His distinctive combination of legal experience, academic engagement, and commitment to client advocacy renders him a significant asset to F3 Law, ensuring clients receive knowledgeable and competent legal representation.

After School

I enjoy spending time outdoors, hiking, camping, and anything that brings me closer to nature and my family.
